

Contract Funds

ARF accepts funding for sponsored research projects from commodity commissions; grower/industry groups, committees, councils, associations; and agricultural/natural resource related non-profit organizations. ARF's sphere of influence, as listed in Articles of Incorporation, are the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California though funding can be accepted from other states if there is an Oregon benefit to the work. ARF cannot accept funds for sponsored research from corporations, private individuals, or some foundations. Funding from these groups can be accepted as gift funds (see Gift Funds) or can be routed through standard research contracts managed by the OSU Research Office.
